

Gentry Heritage in East-Central Europe

*A Workshop of the research project
"The Impact of Gentry Heritage on the Formation of East-Central European Citizenship" of the Polish and Hungarian Academies of Sciences*

3rd October 2016, 14:00 – 18:00

Venue: "Pepita Room" of the Institute of Philosophy in the Research Centre of the Humanities of the Hungarian Academy of Sciences, Országház u. 30., 1014 Budapest

14:00 – 14:15: Opening remarks

Ferenc Hörcher

14:15 – 15:45: Section I

Rafał Smoczyński: The role of the nobility and its traditions in the contemporary Polish society

Gábor Gángó: G. W. Leibniz on Polish nobility

Ferenc Hörcher: Nobleman and burgher: a contradiction in terms in early 19th century Hungary

15:45 – 16:15: Coffee break

16:15 – 17:45 Section II

Béla Mester: A 19th-century nation as a philosophical project and the model of Gentry politics in the Hungarian nation building

Gábor Kovács: The clerical, the intellectual and the gentry – the history of European regions from the perspectives of structuralism and 'psychohistory' in the theories of István Hajnal and István Bibó

Éva Sztáray Kézdy: The Descendants of Former Aristocratic Families in Hungary in the 21st century

17:45 – 18:00: Closing remarks

Rafał Smoczyński

